Solutions to improve your bottom line

Pear Consulting has a proven system that takes your five biggest concerns and makes them manageable and functional. We will teach you how to improve accountability, reduce your rework, give meaningful incentives, complete accurate & consistent estimates, and improve your profits while growing the company.

1 Accountability

All employees want to be accountable. They want to get the job done right but don't have the time to check their work and meet the schedule. They want to be part of a system that encourages accountability, encourages productivity, and rewards employees for getting the job done right the first time.

+ Rework

2 You've heard this too often, rework costs you three times. The first is the time to do it over, the second is the lost earnings while doing it over, the third is the time to do it the first time. What about the damage rework can cause to your reputation? How much more profit can you make and jobs can you win if your rework were cut in half?

+ Incentives

3 Employees want a recognition for doing a good job but many times it's months until you know the quality of their work. If you don't reward them, you lose them. How do you reward employees for quality work and make sure it really is quality?

+ Estimating

4 You estimate jobs the way you like to do business. You know what is most important to you and your knowledge directs the rest. You don't want to change your business to fit into an estimating package but you do want to improve the accuracy and consistency of your estimating.

= Profitability

$ If you could improve the items above, would you improve profits? Would you have the opportunity to win more bids if your overhead were lower? Wouldn't it be nice if this wasn't a concern?

Have a no obligation assessment of your business done to understand how the Pear Consulting Construction Management System can help your business.
